ACQUIRING THE HIGHER UNIVERSITY ENTRANCE QUALIFICATION VIA THE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION (TestAS)

Not all foreign school certificates that entitle you to study in your country of origin are recognised for admission to study in Germany.

If, according to the database "anabin", you have to provide proof of periods of study in your home country or attend a preparatory college or take the assessment test, the University of Wuppertal offers you a further opportunity to acquire a university entrance qualification: You can take the entrance examination ("Zugangsprüfung").

The entrance examination at the University of Wuppertal is the "TestAS – Test for Academic Studies" (www.testas.de/en). If you can provide proof of a standard score of at least 95 (paper-based TestAS) or 75 (digital TestAS) in the TestAS core test and a score of at least 100 (paper-based or digital TestAS) in the TestAS subject module assigned to your desired degree programme, this is, along with your foreign certificates, considered a foreign, subject-specific higher education entrance qualification for admission to a degree programme at the University of Wuppertal.
